JANNEY'S WHARF.

My Ice Cream Manufactory, one of the largest in Virginia, still continues to supply private customers, Sunday schools, excursions, picnics, fairs, festivals and associations, as well as the trade, with that SUPERIOR CREAM that has made a name in this community, and is known everywhere as BRENGLE'S ICE CREAM. I could easily reduce its price by lowering its quality, but good cream, of fresh, pure, wholesome ingredients, cannot be furnished at a less price than I serva it. Of course, I could "grade my cream by the price," but my cream would lose the good name that years of fair dealing have won for it. I ask that persons abroad ordering "Brengle's Cream" from third parties will assure themselves that the cream sent is certainly from my establishment. I warrant my cream, and do not wish that inferior cream, sent cut as mine, may injure its reputation. It is my aim

All diseases of the blood—If Vegetine will relieve pain, cleanse, purify and cure such diseases, restoring the patient to perfect health after trying different physicians, many remedies, suffering for years, is it not conclusive proof, if you are a sufferer, you can be cured? Why is this medicine performing such great cures? It works in the blood, in the circulating fluid. It can truly be called the Great Blood Purifier. The great source of disease originates in the blood; and no medicine that does not act directly upon and no medicine that does not act directly upon it, to purify and renovate, has any just claim upon public attention.

FAMILY MEDICINE. January 1, 1878

Mr. H. R. Stevens:
Dear Sir-I take pleasure in saying that I have used the Vegetine in my family with good results, and I have known of several cases of remarkable cure effected by it. I regard it as a valuable family medicine. Truly yours, REV. WM. McDONALD.

-Bishop Nicholson, of the "Reformed" Church, having made a visit to Virginia, thus describes it in his journal as published in the Tuesday, September 25, with the consent of the presiding bishop, I visited the church of the Redeemer, Acquinton, King William county, Va; and on Thursday of the same week, the "Church of Antioch," Essex county. Va. Both these churches are under the care of our beloved and honored brother, the Rev. James A. Latane, and in fact both were origi nated by him. At the first named church we had a delightful service, and I preached; but the rite of confirmation was not administered owing to sickness among the several persons who were to have received that rite. At the other church the little chapel was crowded with what seemed to be a deeply interested congregation, and seven persons confirmed their faith in Christ. This chapel is owned by our own church people. The build ing at Acquinton, however, is occupied by the Reformed Episcopal society alternately with a Methodist Episcopal society. It is an old and venerable edifice, dating back to Colonial tim VEGETINE whose curiously fashioned and strange-looking bricks were brought, it is said, from the mot! er country on purpose for its crection. It was my first view of a Virginia country church, and I shall never forget my impressions as I came in sight of it. On the road side, in the midst of a grove, it stood so venerable, so quiet-looking, and so monumental of the men and the events of the past. The horses of the congregation were hitched around it to the swinging limbs of trees, and the whole seene was one of rural beauty and hearty simplicity Words would fail me to describe my sense of exquisite enjoyment during that bright mornof the blood yet discovered, and thousands speak ing hour of divine service in the old church where for one hundred and fifty years so many congregations had worshipped. Indeed, not only then, but the whole of my short stay in the neighborhood was full of interest and en joyment. The taste I then had of the farfamed Virginia hospitality lingers with me still. The hearty welcome of the people, and the full flow of friendly converse, were to me a sort of dreamy resurrection of my own Southern life, as it was years ago. I spent one night under the old colonial roof of my rever end and beloved brother, and in the Christian intercourse of his pleasant household. When heart meets heart in the loving embrace of the gospel, what fellowship is like to that? I could see that the work of Mr. Latane, in his two churches, was full of promise, although much hindered hitherto by the uncertainty in the minds of his people as regarded his continuance among them. Such a man as is our bewould inform dealers and others that he is preloved brother, whether considered as to the elements constituting a noble Christian character, or as to the accuracy and fullness of view with which he preaches the gospel of our salvation (this being comparatively so rare an excellence in these days) the exigences of our church would seem to require to be in a larger and more influential position.

> -At a recent meeting of the Episcopal Socicty for Promoting Christianity among the Jews, held in New York city, a report was presented, from which the following extract is taken: "The Jewish population is not as commonly supposed, fixed and united in bigoted devotion to Judaism, but is undergoing a vast change social and religious, a change which is leading it further and further adrift from ultraconservatism of so-called orthodoxy, and with ever increasing impetus in the two directions of infidelity and reformed Judaism-the latter being a sort of compound of Judaism and rationalism, with elements of Christianity. Since the opening of the present century Jewish thought has undergone revolution. The old Judaism is already dead or fast dying out. This is partly the effect of civil emancipation, partly of the modern continental philosophies, but largely, and perhaps principally, of Christianity, whose influence, both by means of missions and otherwise, has been, since persecution was laid aside for gentleness, powerfully felt. Of the 30,000 Jews in New York, it is estimated by the rabbis themselves that not more than 2,500, say some, or 6,000 to 8,000 say others, ever attend the synagogues, i. c., less than one-tenth.

-In the convention of the diocese of Mich igan, held at Detroit, on Thursday week, a copy of Bishop McCoskry's resignation of the office of bishop was received. This last resignation, construed under the church laws, involves not only the resignation of the bishop-Claret Wine. This Wine is pure, and much ric, but of the ministry also, and is of the most complete kind; therefore the convention voted to pay the resigned bishop an annuity of $1,500, subject to revision by future conventions. In his letter of resignation, dated May 18, Bishop McCoskry says he is utterly unable to discharge the duties connected with that office, and does not wish to be a burden to the diocese.
